Resource Directory of Forensic Psychology Pre-doctoral Internship
Training Programs

Introduction

This resource directory provides a state-by-state listing of predoctoral internship programs that offer training opportunities in forensic psychology. The directory is intended for prospective internship applicants seeking predoctoral training in clinical-forensic psychology.

The directory was compiled by identifying internships across all 50 states and Canadian provinces through the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC) Directory On-line. Broad inclusion criteria were utilized by including internships that listed any forensic training opportunities (either a major rotation or an informal/minor rotation). Surveys were mailed to 186 training programs of which 88 responded (overall response rate of 47.3%). Thirty-five respondents indicated that forensic training was not offered at the training site or was not a significant component of the training program warranting inclusion in the directory. Therefore, the directory contains 63 internship programs with a variety of forensic training experiences across multiple settings.

Previous versions of this directory offered limited information regarding rotations and the types of training experiences available. The current directory contains specific information for each forensic rotation (modality, setting, population), types of forensic assessment and treatment experiences, and percentage of time interns spend in each training experience. This information was collected to facilitate locating an internship site that offers training opportunities within specific areas of interest. In addition, email and website information have also been included to facilitate contact with the internship program. When examining individual training sites in the directory use the following key (N/A = not applicable, N/C = not completed).

The resource directory was supported by the American Psychology-Law Society and the American Academy of Forensic Psychology. The directory was compiled by Keith R. Cruise, M.L.S., Ph.D., and graduate students in the Forensic-Clinical Program at Sam Houston State University. Questions regarding the development of the resource directory can be directed to psy_krc@shsu.edu.

ROTATION INFORMATION

Rotation #1:
Rotation Name:	London Family Court Clinic
Percentage of Time:	10% (maximum)
Rotation Classification:	Minor
Rotation Supervisor:	Drs. Ashborne, Baker, and Jaffe
Modality:	Assessment and Consultation
Setting:	Court Clinic
Population:	Adolescent/Child Criminal Adolescent/Child Civil
Emphasis:	Located in the core of the city, the London Family Court Clinic provides unique opportunities for those interested in community psychology as well as forensic and legal issues with children and families. The clinic is well known for community-based research on current issues such as children's courtroom testimony, the effects of violence on children, young offenders, custody and access assessments, and violence prevention. Training activities include specialized assessments (child welfare, custody and access, young offender), courtroom preparation of child witnesses, and school-based violence prevention programs. Interns work closely with educators, lawyers, police, and social workers.

Rotation #2:

Rotation Name: Child Sexual Abuse and Trauma
Percentage of Time: 20% (maximum)
Rotation Classification: Minor
Rotation Supervisor: Dr. Wolfe
Modality: Treatment, Assessment, and Consultation
Setting: Department Clinic
Population: Adolescent/Child Criminal
 Adolescent/Child Civil
Emphasis: The Child Sexual Abuse rotation provides services to abuse victims ranging in age from infancy to age 16. Interns provide assessment of the abuse, the child’s post-disclosure adjustment, and factors that may attenuate or exacerbate sequelae, such as child’s social support network and the child’s involvement with legal proceedings. Therapeutic interventions emphasize coping and recovery. Interns become involved in both group and individual therapy. Therapeutic techniques involve play therapy, systematic desensitization, stress management, and family counseling. Interns consult with various community services, including child protective services, the Crown Attorney’s office, and the Victim/Witness Assistance Program. Case supervision is also available for interns assisted in other forms of childhood trauma.

Number of Staff Involved in Forensic Training: 11
Number of Forensic Rotations: 2

ROTATION INFORMATION

Rotation #1:

Rotation Name: Forensic (Adult)
Percentage of Time: 4 months
Rotation Classification: Major
Rotation Supervisor: Stephen Wong, Ph.D.
Modality: Treatment, Assessment, and Consultation
Setting: Federal Prison (Psychiatric Facility)
Population: Adult Criminal
Emphasis: The Regional Psychiatric Center (RPC) is a fully accredited teaching hospital which provides mental health inpatient treatment and assessment services for a wide variety of forensic patients. The facility has four independent, multi-disciplinary program units. Bow unit is a 100-bed psychiatric rehabilitation program for patients with acute and chronic Axis I disorders, dual diagnoses, and intellectual impairments, Churchill is a 12-bed intensive healing program for female offenders. Clearwater is a 48-bed sex offender program. Mackenzie and Assiniboine units have 46 beds for an aggressive behavior control program. All programs are based on cognitive-behavioral relapse prevention approaches. Following brief orientation to the RPC, one primary program unit is chosen on which to become a fully involved member of the team, and the intern negotiates specific training experiences with the Rotation Coordinator. Subsequently, interns become involved in provision of comprehensive treatment programs for high risk or high need offenders. Experience can also be gained in forensic assessments, including National Parole Board assessments which focus on risk for future violence. Ongoing program evaluation is integral to RPC programs, with a separate department aiding in the collection and analysis of data. Prior to placement at the RPC, all interns must complete a security clearance form. RPC prefers interns with a specific interest in forensic clients and program evaluation. However, the clinical issues, presenting problems, and treatment approaches are applicable to any clinician's practice.

Rotation #2:

Rotation Name:	Child and Youth (Forensic Team)
Percentage of Time:	4 months
Rotation Classification:	Major
Rotation Supervisor:	Vacant
Modality:	Treatment, Assessment, and Consultation
Setting:	Community Mental Health Center
Population:	Adolescent/Child Criminal
Emphasis:	Child and Youth Services is an outpatient facility for children and families. Services are offered to children, youth, and their families encountering a broad range of emotional, intellectual, and behavioral problems such as sexual abuse, attention-deficit disorder, and legal offenses. Services are organized around four community-based, multidisciplinary, family focused programs: Early Childhood, Mid-Childhood, Youth, and Young Offenders. Interns gain experience in one or two of the programs in individual, family, and group interventions. Some coursework and experience in child development and assessment is a prerequisite for this rotation. Core experiences include: court-ordered, pre-sentence psychological assessment (cognitive, personality, risk, needs, case planning), special referrals (e.g., query F.A.S.) involve multi-disciplinary, coordinated evaluations, suicide/risk/violence assessment (mainly for custodial facilities), anger management, sex offender treatment,
